Prof. Luc Mouthon

French Society of Internal Medicine

Dear Prof. Mouthon,

I am delighted to invite you for the 10th jubilee edition of the McMaster International Review Conference of Internal Medicine (MIRCIM 2025), scheduled for 8-10 May 2025, in Kraków, Poland.

As an official partner of MIRCIM, the French Society of Internal Medicine plays a vital role in the success of this gathering, which unites key opinion leaders and emerging talents from the field of internal medicine worldwide.

We would appreciate if you could share information about MIRCIM 2025, and especially the Young Talents in Internal Medicine: World Contest 2025 for early-career professionals (www.youngtalents.one), through your Society's various communication channels (website, electronic newsletters, and social media platforms). Please note that the deadline for case submissions to the Contest is February 20, 2025.

As the sole representative of France among MIRCIM partners, the French Society of Internal Medicine holds the unique privilege of endorsing up to 10 case reports for the Young Talents Contest. Consequently, all submissions from France must be formally endorsed by your Society. To ensure the highest quality and fairness, we encourage you to organize national preselections prior to finalizing submissions. Full Contest Rules are available at www.youngtalents.one.

At the heart of the Contest are the in-person presentations by authors during dedicated sessions at MIRCIM 2025. We believe that participating in this on-site event provides not only a platform to showcase one's work and gain international recognition but also an unparalleled opportunity to network with peers and experts from across the globe.

However, recognizing the challenges posed by distance and financial constraints, we are pleased to introduce a virtual participation option for 2025, allowing authors unable to attend in person to still present their work.

Furthermore, we would be delighted to host you in Kraków and invite you to serve on the Contest jury, should members of your Society submit cases. The organizers would be glad to cover the costs of your participation fee, accommodation and social events accompanying MIRCIM.

The detailed program is available at www.mircim.one. In 2025, MIRCIM will be accompanied by specialist-focused meetings:

- McMaster Annual Update in Cardiology 2025
- McMaster Annual Update in Diabetology & Endocrinology 2025
- McMaster Annual Update in Rheumatology 2025
- Artificial Intelligence in Medicine 2025
- Medical Education Forum 2025

Please find attached MIRCIM promotional materials prepared for use on websites and in newsletters/emails.

We would also greatly appreciate it if you could circulate the invitation to MIRCIM 2025 and the Young Talents in Internal Medicine: World Contest among your colleagues and collaborators, both in your hospital/university and elsewhere in the country.

Thank you for your contribution to this international educational event.

I hope to see you at MIRCIM 2025 in Krakow.
